Little Artists, Big Hearts

This summer, let children use art to bring warmth to animals in need!

Our “Paint the House of Love” camp will teach children about the meaning of pet adoption and help these animals find homes through art. Students will make bookmarks, keychains, and canvas bags and sell them for charity, with the proceeds going to Shelter, and the studio will donate $100 of each student's tuition fee to support Shelter, as well as drawing portraits of animals up for adoption and posting them on social media platforms to help more animals find new homes. During the event, children will not only learn how to use art to convey love, but also develop hands-on skills and a sense of social responsibility. Let's use art to send warmth and hope to animals in need!

Course Content

- Visit animal shelter
- Handmade art stall charity sale
- Craft bookmarks, tote bags, keychains
- Paint adoptable pets, promote on social media
- Donate art studio tuition fees
